Introducing the latest vessel from the sound tinkerer: the Cyclo Sonido!

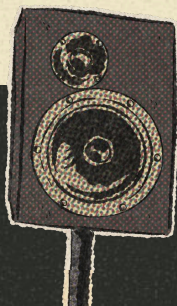

This new cycle is an extension of the mothership, capable of weaving through public squares, finding a spot on café terraces, and offering a concept to its audience that is as playful as it is melodic.

Autonomous, just like its partner, this old-school bike settles in and sets up a jukebox for the public to enjoy. The listener becomes the player, a curator of discoveries that Tony plucks from his vast and highly eclectic vinyl collection, spinning them on his solar-powered turntables. After three hours of jukebox vibes, the setup makes way for a digital DJ set as desired.
